TO MAKE A GOOD PICTURE COW IN CALF $20. WORKING. NOT FOR MONEY WAR WILL VANISH.

—By Arthur Brisbane—

(Copyright 1930 By King Features Syndicate Inc.)

LOS ANGELES Nov. 27—Here in Los Angeles where stars are developed and pictures are made, one young man, Paul Bern, who superintends and directs for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, knows exactly what he is trying to do.

In few words he gave information valuable to all directors, scenario writers, and actors. "When you make a picture," said he, "ask yourself 'what do the majority of the people lack?'"

Men and women go to the moving pictures to find that which they have not in themselves, or in their surroundings. If it be true that a middle-aged woman in Washington, D. C., went every single afternoon and evening to see Valentino, there was something about Valentino probably, that was lacking in her middle-aged husband.

THE AVERAGE human being feels the need of many things, energy, intensity of living, free expression of emotion.

Writers, directors and actors will succeed in proportion as they are able to supply what is lacking in the majority of us.

It is not easy to know what the public craves. Livingstone, traveling through darkest Africa, could not have imagined that the pitiful black children crowding around him were begging for salt. It was that they wanted. Sugar did not interest them.

THE LIVESTOCK exhibition and rodeo begin in Los Angeles tomorrow. Farmers will be interested to learn from Paul Hill, livestock specialist of California, you can buy here a good, young big-boned cow, in calf, for $20.

With cows on the hoof, worth only 25 cents a pound, any man with a pasturage could make a profit in buying up cattle.

IT WAS SUGGESTED here in a moment of Pacific coast sunshine mental relaxation that in days to come men will not work to make money but to do good.

An impatient reader asks "How will you interested men in working if not to accumulate property? Did you ever know of anybody working really hard except for money?"

Samuel Johnson had the same idea when he said that nobody wrote well except for pay. But he was mistaken.

JOHN BUNYAN wrote "Pilgrim's Progress" with no thought of pay. And his book has been more widely translated and published than any other except the Bible.

Newton, working at his law of gravitation, giving to human beings the most important knowledge they ever received, without any desire for pay, and with intense happiness. When he perceived that the calculations leading to his formula "directly as the mass and inversely as the square of the distance" were about to work out satisfactorily his excitement was so great, that he had to let another finish his calculations.

KENNEDY ASKS DISMISSAL OF THOMAS COUNTS

Special Mahoning Prosecutor Files Plea With Judge Jewell

Similar Move Is Made On Indictments of Six Others

(By Associated Press)

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 28.—Dismissal of remaining indictments against Mahoning County Prosecutor Ray L. Thomas, acquitted in bribery and blackmail trials, is asked of Judge Harry W. Jewell of Delaware.

Kennedy Makes Request

The request was made by Special Prosecutor David F. Kennedy yesterday, Judge Jewell, assigned here to hear the Thomas cases, said he would give his decision next week.

Kennedy also asked dismissal of indictments against County Commissioner Albert Cooper, former Commissioner Griff Jones and Wade G. Christy, former Police Chief K. K. Powell, Thomas Ryan and Joseph Hannon.

Thomas and the six others were indicted last May by a special grand jury which investigated his office after he had demanded the resignation of former Traction Commissioner Harry Engle. Last summer Thomas was acquitted of blackmailing Engle and of bribery charges.

Four Other Indictments

The indictments which Kennedy asks be dismissed charge Thomas with conspiracy to defraud the Central Savings and Loan company to compel them to release his deposits, that he procured a woman client's signature to a promissory note on the pretense that she was signing a divorce pleading, that he concealed $2,700 in stolen bonds and that he had accepted a bribe in a county land deal. The land deal was the basis of the indictment of the six others with Thomas.

Fifi D'Orsay, that charming little sputtery miss of the movies, who makes the chills dance up and down your spine on occasion, is shown boarding a plane at Cleveland with her dog, Coco, for a flight to California. Fifi and her canine "protector" both like flying much better than travel on old Mother Earth.

AUTO LICENSE PLATES ARRIVE; ON SALE DEC. 1

A. P. Morris Gets 3,500 Sets for Distribution In District

URGES MOTORISTS TO ACT; AVOID JAM

They're More Expensive, but Driver Escapes Tax Assessment

A shipment of 3,500 sets of automobile license plates, which will be placed on sale next Tuesday, was received at the Salem office of the Columbiana County Motor club, East State st., Friday afternoon. Albert P. Morris, manager, announced today.

Morris, commissioner in charge of license distributions in Salem, today requested motorists of the city and vicinity to purchase the plates as early as possible to avoid last minute rushes. The new plates may be used Dec. 10.

Motorists File Applications

Advance reservations are now being received from automobile club members who may have numbers from A-1001 to A-2700. Other plates will run from 751-251 to 754-950, Morris said. Requests have been filed by more than 300 motor club members for plates.

The motor club manager also explained that all persons purchasing new automobiles during the past year and who have not yet obtained transfers of licenses for the new machines, must do so before they will be granted new plates. No license will be issued without a bill of sale, certificate of title or sworn statement of ownership.

He declared that there will be no exceptions made to the Ohio motor club law which stipulates that all owners must personally appear and sign applications for licenses. Where a bill of sale is in the name of two individuals, it will be necessary for both parties to sign the application.

Issue Chauffeur Licenses

Morris was also named to take charge of examinations for issuance of chauffeur licenses. All school bus drivers, motorists operating under regulations of the public utility commission and owners who operate their own automobile for hire must obtain such licenses. Any employee of a firm operating trucks or motor vehicles of any kind, and who is required to drive a motor vehicle 50 per cent or more of the time must also have a license.

A charge of $3 will be made for the examinations and licenses.

The 1932 plates will be colored with blue letters against a white body. They will be placed on sale at higher prices than in previous years since automobiles will no longer be listed for personal property taxes.

Inaugurating one of the most delicately ticklish sessions it has ever held, the League of Nations Council, under the leadership of Aristide Briand of France, had just convened in Paris for discussions of the Manchuria crisis as this picture was taken of the opening deliberations. One of the latest proposals of the Council to halt the unofficial but distinctly deadly war between China and Japan is that a neutral commission of inquiry investigate conditions in Manchuria with the possible evacuation of Japanese troops. Briand is indicated by arrow. To his right, seated at table, are left to right, Sir Eric Drummond, of England; Sir John Simon, British Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, and Mr. Yoshizawa, Japanese Ambassador to Paris and chief of the Nippon delegation.

JAPANESE HALT ADVANCE; WILL TREK TO MUKDEN

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Nov. 28.—The rearward march of the powerful Japanese army which yesterday began an advance on Chinchow was begun today, a spokesman for the army headquarters here announced.

Armored Train In Van

The backward march, the spokesman said, began with the vanguard of the army, an armored train which is remaining at Yang-Kuanzai, 20 miles northeast of Tientsin and covering the withdrawal of the main body of the troops.

The withdrawals, he said, and the new disposition of the units will require a few days.

The Japanese force, numbering 10,000 men and equipped with all the up-to-date paraphernalia of war was stopped by government order after it had got under way southward.

66 Miles from Chinchow

The army had proceeded, accompanied by a fleet of airplanes, to a point 66 miles from Chinchow, when it was halted. It was announced that all Japanese troops now will be withdrawn to a point 30 miles southwest of Mukden east of the Liao river.

First thing Mr. Liss knew Wednesday the turkey was on the roof. Neighbors tried to help Liss get the bird down, but the chase was given up, and the Liss family ate chicken on Thanksgiving.

"But Christmas—a-a-a-h!" mused Mr. Liss today.

It was rumored the jury stood 11 to one for conviction.

Mahoning county ranks down the list, reporting total deposits of $119,000.

More than 350,000 residents will receive on an average of $45 "extra money" for Christmas shopping through the savings clubs, banking officials estimated. The survey showed that the 367,332 club members in the state will receive checks totaling $16,855,000.

WHAT'S THE TRUTH ABOUT THE NAVY?

The open dispute between the administration and the Navy league is continued with a second denunciation of President Hoover's naval policies, this one signed by Walter Bruce Howe, chairman of the league's board of directors. The first critical statement was signed by William Howard Gardiner, president of the organization.

The only thing proved to the country thus far in the battle of reports and policies is that the truth about what is going on in the navy is a slippery and elusive thing. Mr. Hoover's "vindication" committee charged the first Navy league report with presenting false figures. The second Navy league report charges Mr. Hoover's committee with similar misstatements. "Such erroneous statements and conclusions appearing with the name of the distinguished committee have, if uncorrected, as unfortunate effect as if made with deliberate intent to misinform the public," the report says.

The truth about the navy is revealed in complicated and often hopelessly obscure calculations, which apparently evade even the grasp of the most astute admirals, else there would not be so much confusion. The administration seeks credit from the people for reducing naval expenditures, yet it is demonstrable by the use of figures that there is to be no material reduction in naval expenditures. Mr. Hoover says that "the tonnage of combatant ships actually in construction by the United States, today is nearly double that of Great Britain, and in addition we are engaged in the modernization of three battleships." Yet, if one were to trust the Navy league's apparent deep concern implicitly, he would be led to believe that the United States navy is reduced to the status of a fleet of outboard motor boats.

On one side are to be found intelligent men claiming that the navy is sufficient for national defense, and on the other are to be found intelligent men claiming that the United States has been betrayed by a President with pacific tendencies. In the middle somewhere are the skeptics, whose sustaining doubt in the whole business is inability to believe that any nation is preparing to attack or even contemplating such action. Also, among this considerable group of skeptics, are many who doubt the Navy league's good faith.

Obviously, neither side will get anywhere until the public is advised clearly concerning the real condition of the navy. President Hoover still can command confidence, but where there is smoke there must be fire; the Navy league must have a case or it wouldn't have dared to continue its denunciation after Mr. Hoover had requested an apology.

A congressional committee is a roundabout way of doing investigating, but it's the best way there is. If Mr. Hoover and the Navy league are going to continue their differences on naval policy, therefore, spectators in the 48 states would appreciate uncontented statements telling the truth about the navy, if it is possible to determine the truth without fear of contradiction.

THE FARMER'S RIGHTS ON HIS FARM

Commissioner Reinhardt questions the right of a farmer to ask and accept money from persons who wish to hunt on his land such game birds and animals as are open to hunting, under the game laws of Ohio.

His position, we think, is not at all defensible, either in law or equity. There can, of course, be no question that any farm owner has the absolute right to forbid any hunting at all on his lands, wholly regardless of legal open seasons for the taking of fish and game.

It being his right to decide, during open seasons, whether hunters having the state license may use that license on his farm or not, if he chooses to grant that privilege, he may grant it on his own conditions, which may include a fee for that use of his lands, if he so elects.

In view of the fact that the state has established an open season on a game bird, the fact that the state division of conservation has spent money in propagating that particular bird can not be argued against the farmer's right to take a fee from those whom he permits to hunt that bird on his land. In fact, if all farmers in Ohio who permit hunting at all would charge a fee, there would be far less shooting, and the efforts to increase the numbers of game birds by propagation would attain greater success, at less expense, than is now the case.—Columbus Dispatch.

Give Thanks For Health

In the traditions and practices of every people there are days of prayer and thanksgiving, of fasting or feasting, of rejoicing or lamentation. In America, the great day of rejoicing, celebrated by all races and creeds, is Thanksgiving Day.

The President, the Governors of States, the heads of provinces, is a proclamation of a Tifey direct that the last Thursday in November shall be set aside as a day to turn from the ordinary affairs of life, to give thanks to Almighty God for the blessings He has given His children.

In the midst of economic depression and world tribulations, we must overlook the unpleasant things in life. Today, we must give thanks for many blessings that are ours in spite of material adversity.

It is not all of life to have stocks and bonds, high wages, and soft raiment. To be happy, it is not necessary to dwell in palaces, or to be driven by liveried chauffeurs. Private cars, yachts and aeroplanes may not be the vehicles of our travels. Yet we may have a thousand things for which to thank God today.

In the last analysis good health is chief of human blessings. Without it, wealth and position mean little. With it all things are possible.

If you know how to live, you can have sparkling eyes today. I say this because knowledge of how to live is really more than half the battle.

You might be ignorant of the names of the capitals of the world and its great rivers. You might not be able to recognize by name a single one of the beautiful flowers and glorious trees. You might not know how many valves there are in the heart, or the number of bones in the body. Yet if you know what to eat and how to live, you are blessed beyond words. There is a day of Thanksgiving for you if you have your health and your dear ones are well.

After a week of rain a small boy asked his father: "Will this rain ever stop?"

"Every rain I ever knew except one did stop," the father replied. "What rain was that?"

"This one!"

Likewise, this period of depression will end. It will be followed by better times, perhaps, than we ever had in the past. They will surely be better, if we apply the lessons of adversity.

Poverty may make it necessary to eat the simplest foods. That is no curse! To eat simple food when you are rich will make your riches worth more to you and to the world.

You may have to walk instead of riding in your own car. That will make your muscles strong. It will take the fat off your stomach. It will send your blood in a cleansing stream through every cell of your brain. You may not be able to afford the theater and the late supper afterward. That fact will send you to bed earlier and give your body the lasting benefits of abundant rest.

No matter what misfortune has overtaken you during the past, you have left a million things for which to thank God. Sacrifices such as I have mentioned will actually add to your health and vigor. A return of prosperity will find you ready to enjoy it. Let us give thanks!

Monday, Nov. 29
Monday's astrological forecast is very interesting and eventful one, with excellent signs for those in employment or having desire to make radical changes in the pursuit of new plans and projects. It is probable that splendid fresh opportunities for these are on the tapis, with much energy and initiative in store to vigorously grasp them. But caution in signing papers is urged, and also a measure of care in preserving personal, social and domestic harmony. Romance or pleasure may prove an unhappy or intriguing actor. Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of excellent new openings with much encouragement for plans and projects of bold initiative and skill. But be careful in signing papers and do not permit social, romantic or domestic matters to interfere with the vigorous pursuit of high aims, or to mar the happiness. A child born on this day should be skilful, ingenious, original and of fine initiative. But its possible leanings to pleasure and to promiscuous acquaintanceships may prove detrimental.

be prepared for a year of obstacle, postponement and anxiety. While there may be some form of friendly assistance, with recognition or honors from those in places of importance, yet it may be found difficult to make progress in new projects, or with real possessions or industry. A child born on this day although having a degree of popularity and ambition may find it difficult to succeed with superiors, being sulky, morose and stubborn. It should be given discipline in infancy to overcome this predilection.

NEW YORK Day by Day by O.O. McIntyre

NEW YORK Nov. 28 — A tall Junoesque lady with the breath of Kilarney in her voice is Manhattan's female Sherlock Holmes. At the age of 33, with soft auburn hair and a schoolgirl shyness meeting strangers, she is the only woman to operate a huge private detective chain.

Up to date she has never lost a case in court, and she has been sleuthing for 15 years. Her name is Adelaide F. Jennings, Rochester, N.Y., and she occupies an expansive suite of offices in the shadows of the public library on Fifth avenue.

Miss Jennings started in the detective business professionally with a capital of $250. Her parents had decided upon a teaching career for her, but she bolted the parental yoke and came to New York. A little bewildered, but in some magical manner earning $500 as her first fee.

She has the happy faculty of being at home with a ten-cent-a-dance girl as well as a flapper debutante off the Gold Coast. She has mingled in the role of guest at Park ave. weddings and as a toothless old hag has invaded the underworld cache of counterfeiters.

The only scar of her adventuring is a bullet wound in her arm, the result of protecting a young girl from a white slaver's wrath. She has been close enough to death several times to feel its chill, and never flinched but fled from a banquet room when suddenly called upon to speak.

It is her belief women are important in detective work because of that superior reasoning defined as "intuition." A lady of utterly untheatrical temperament, she is infatuated with the theatrical. It is her hope to clap a hand on the shoulder of a reigning Capone and say: "Baby come with me."

SYNOPSIS
Mary Faith, young and comely fiancée of Kimberley Farrell, handsome blond youth, just out of law school, leaves her position as secretary to the wealthy Mark Nesbit to marry "Kim."

CHAPTER I
He got out of his shining mahogany chair, crossed the office and the door of it open for her as she went out—a thing he never had done for her before in all the time she had worked for him. A thing that no employer ever does for his secretary or for any other person who works for him, as Mary Faith knew very well. It was as if he had forgotten all at once that she was his employee and was seeing her for the first time as a young and beautiful woman.

Her own little room opened off his office. Her desk stood against the wall that faced his door. She sat down at it and put the letters he had just signed into their envelopes. When she raised her head from her work a moment later he was still standing in the doorway looking down at her in that same puzzled, frowning way.

"Did I tell you that I'm sorry you're leaving?" he asked. "I meant to, if I didn't. I'm going to miss you, Miss Fenton—" He seemed to be on the point of saying something else to her; then suddenly he changed his mind apparently, for he shook his head and went back into his own office, shutting the door of it behind him.

He was still in it when Mary Faith left a few minutes afterward. She knew that he would miss her when she left Nesbit's. For, in addition to her regular work, she did all sorts of little odd jobs for him. Every year she sent out his Christmas cards. She picked out the presents that he gave to his mother and

Ready to Girdle Globe in Yawl

The theme song that runs through the lives of some people might be a paraphrase of the old melody: "There's no place like home—when you're nowhere else to go." Particularly might this apply to Captain J. Errol Boyd (right in inset) and Carl D. Justice, who are making last-minute preparations for a voyage around the world in their 34-foot yawl Explorer (shown above) at Daytona Beach, Fla. While adventure is the prime motive of the trip, it is their hope to collect museum specimens in order to make the long trek of scientific value. Boyd was pilot of the plane Columbia on trans-Atlantic flight last year.

There was some change in him. He was not the Kim who had kissed her good night in Mrs. Puckett's parlor the night before... She looked at him again, trying to penetrate the secret of his difference. There was something sullen and resentful about him tonight.

Constance Bennett, one of America's loveliest screen stars, with her new husband, the Marquis Henri de la Falaise de la Coudraye, of France, after their wedding ceremony in Beverly Hills, Calif. "I GREW up with tobacco. Mostly I smoke cigarettes now — but I've smoked plenty of cigars, and pipes, too. And I never got anything but good from tobacco in any form—pipe, cigar, or cigarette—and that goes for every smoker I ever heard about."

"Why, I remember as a boy, way back, how the old folks in the fall used to pick and cure tobacco from a little patch they'd raised, and save out the best for their own smoking. And my father fought all through the war, and lived to be ninety."

"He'd certainly appreciate what we get today, though. Just think about these CHESTERFIELDS of mine—fine tobaccos from all over the world, and cured and blended just so; you couldn't get anything purer or milder. Cleanest factories you ever saw, too—never a hand touching the cigarettes . . . everything up to date."

"A big improvement over the old ways . . . reckon that's why I like CHESTERFIELDS so much. I notice most of my friends get a lot of pleasure out of them, too.*"

"But what I started out to say was, you can always depend on tobacco, no matter how things are going. Probably there was never anything in the world that meant so much to so many people, and cost so little, as tobacco—whatever way they smoke it."

"Yes, sir—I'll stand up for tobacco as long as I can strike a match!"

THE HOME KITCHEN

TRY BAKED SQUASH

In lieu of potatoes, white or sweet, try baked squash as the starch of the meal. In this fashion it is pleasing to many persons who are not particularly fond of the vegetable served in the ordinary mashed potato fashion. And it is more attractive as a dish.

The easiest way to prepare squash is to cut it into three or four-inch lengths, more or less—whatever seems to be a convenient size for individual service. Place in a baking dish and bake in a moderate oven for an hour. Then cut a slit in each piece and slip a bit of butter in it. Add salt and pepper and serve immediately.

For variety's sake, here is a squash dish that has added flavor:

Baked Squash

1 small or medium-size squash
3 tablespoons butter.
1 small green pepper, sweet.
1 small onion.
1 tablespoon chopped celery.
1-2 cup fine breadcrumbs.
1-2 teaspoon salt.
1-8 teaspoon pepper.

Cut squash in small pieces and discard seeds and fiber. Place in enough boiling salted water to cover and cook until tender—about half an hour or more. Then remove the squash, skin and force through ricer. Melt the butter. Add 1 tablespoon to the fine breadcrumbs. To the other butter in saucpan add chopped onion, pepper and celery and cook about 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add the mashed squash and seasonings, place in a buttered baking dish, sprinkle the top with the buttered crumbs and bake in a hot oven about 20 minutes.

These recipes are, of course, for the late or Hubbard squash which is now in season. It is better to buy the small or medium-sized squashes as they are less fibrous, also easier to handle. The rind of a Hubbard squash should be hard, as this indicates ripeness (unlike summer squashes which have a soft rind when at their best).

HOLY TRINITY ENGLISH LUTHERAN

East State st. at Woodland ave., Rev. George D. Keister, pastor.
First Sunday in Advent. Sunday school, 9:45 (Philemon 429) H. E. Smith, Supt.
Christ Jesus changes the outward appearance of His disciples. The outward filth of sin is cast aside. The gloom and melancholy of unbelief is exchanged for the good cheer of faith. However the greatest changes are effected by our Savior, upon the inner man. The heart or soul of man is transformed by the work of the Son of God. Hate for a fellowman must leave when Christ comes. In suppression of a fellow creature must cease when Christ is followed. Thus we see the powerful antidote that eventually put an end to authorized slavery of man. Distrust and suspicion have to go when Christ comes in. Christ changes our attitude to our fellowmen.
Morning worship 11.
Sermon: "Christ's Glorious Advent."

This Sunday is the First Sunday in Advent. Thus does the Christian year begin. "The church does not measure her seasons so much by the motion of the sun as by the course of her Savior; thus beginning and pursuing her year with Him who being the true "Sun of Righteousness," began at this time to rise upon the world, and as the "Day Star" on high, to enlighten that that sit in spiritual darkness. Advent is considered one of the greater festivals of the Christian year in that it takes precedence over any other nature or character of celebration. The church is unwilling to turn from the contemplation of her Lord's advent in the flesh for any other consideration. Advent is a season partly of sorrow and partly of joy. While its liturgical color is that of sorrow in its Scripture lessons there is to be seen a note of joy."

Ohio State Battles Minnesota; Irish Favored Over Army Team

THE DAY IN SPORTS

FANS WELCOME DEC. 5 GAME
HOBART FINALLY WINS
LAUD COACH ANDERSON

SALEM HIGH grid fans, players and officials alike greet with enthusiasm the news that their varsity will again oppose the Alliance High school gridiron eleven in a football game. The contest will be played for charity, with each school dividing proceeds, on Saturday, December 5.

Grid addicts from both Salem and Alliance were surprised at the showing of Salem's varsity in the Turkey day clash, won, 12-2, by the Stark countians. Now they point to the impending benefit duel as an opportunity for redemption and vengeance.

The facts behind Salem's defeat are merely a matter of conjecture. It is known that dissension has disrupted the team spirit of the team. There were also indications of staleness, over work.

All of these elements were contributing factors to the defeat but credit must go to Alliance and George Wilcoxen for the victory. Salem was outclassed, of that there is no doubt.

Schoolboy football teams invariably err at some time during the season. It may be an error of omission or commission. No field general, no player, no coach attains perfection in football.

Disension among players, however, must never be permitted to enter into the spirit of a team's performance. A coach, if he is a good coach, must have the ability to inject into his proteges a feeling that they are not individuals, but members of a team, playing for a school and city and the 4,000 fans gathered in the stadium.

So, on December 5, it is hoped that a rejuvenated Salem High football team will give the Alliance Turkey day fiasco is a matter of history, all attention must be centered on the forthcoming fracas which the Quakers may win.

Coach Floyd W. Stone apparently had the right dose . . . he predicted a two touchdown defeat for his team . . . Alliance school officials look forward to an attendance of 8,000 at the Dec. 5 game . . . they say their team will give the Quakers an even more decisive defeat . . . claim that Alliance coasted and could have put up a better game . . .

Bill Smith (Pitt), Tommy French (Denison) and Sammy Drakulich (Ohio State), each potential college varsity players, are home . . . The News all-county will be published Monday . . . five Salem players will be honored . . . can you name them?

"NOTRE DAME knows how to lose," Coach Hunk Anderson assures sympathizers after the Irish team's string of 26 consecutive games without a defeat was broken by Southern California.

And Coach Anderson, the Notre Dame players and everyone connected with the team drew praise for accepting defeat like true sportsmen.

But what about Hobart? Or didn't you know about the little upstate New York college and its unparalleled record? Hobart also saw its record shattered on the same afternoon that Southern California defeated Notre Dame.

Hobart also knows how to lose—at least it should after losing 27 consecutive games over a period of three years. Not once during the three years has anyone heard an alibi, or a complaint from Hobart. And no one has praised Hobart for its sportsmanship.

Winning was a new experience for Hobart, but the cellar champs of football accepted their victory over Rochester—the first in 28 starts—without undue boasting. Apparently, losing like sportsmen taught the Hobart players to win in the same manner and when praise is being passed about Hobart deserves an equal share with Notre Dame.

Just as no player on the Notre Dame squad ever figured in a defeat for his alma-mater until the setback by Southern California, no Hobart man ever had taken part in a Hobart victory.

Whereas seniors on Notre Dame's squad might have graduated without ever experiencing the disappointment of a defeat, but for the Southern California game, Hobart's seniors would have graduated minus the thrill of victory but for the Rochester game.

Possibly it isn't as bad as it sounds. The Hobart boys have learned to take punishment and grin. If they curled up and quit it would be a different matter, but they fought hard, even when losing. Character building, it is called. The man who does nothing but win cannot learn how to act when beaten—a lesson worth learning.

Ordinarily too many defeats are as bad for the morale as too many victories, but setbacks never seemed to ruin Hobart's spirit, any more than too many victories hurt Notre Dame.

Too much success or too much failure is bad for anyone and perhaps it was a good thing that Notre Dame and Hobart ended their long strings of respective victories and defeats. Now they can start over—and probably both will profit from the change.

Early Ticket Sales Show Possible Gate of $30,000 Today

(By Associated Press)
MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 28.—The call of charity brought Minnesota and Ohio State into gridiron competition again today, for the first time in nine years.

Have Chance To Tie
Meeting for the benefit of the unemployed, the Gophers and Buckeyes renewed their old rivalry, with Ohio State, the favorite, having an outside chance for a tie for the Big Ten championship should they win and Northwestern lose to Purdue.

Several Gophers were incapacitated. Quentin Burdick was in a hospital recuperating from an operation; Brad Robinson was ill with appendicitis, and Ken MacDougall was out with a leg injury.

$30,000 Gate Expected
Early ticket sales indicated receipts of around $30,000. The probable lineup:

Cops Prove "You Can't Win"

Beneath the shadow of Sing Sing penitentiary's walls, with the tower guards vigilant at their posts, and the prisoners' playground turned into a gridiron, the football team of the Port Jervis, N. Y., police department defeated Sing Sing's eleven, 13 to 0. It was just another case of "You can't win against the law." The 2,000 prisoners and 3,000 "outsiders," who watched the contest from the sidelines, cheered both teams. Here's a particularly snappy bit of action as the copper "arrested" the prisoners' eleven.

Men to Watch in Army-Notre Dame Classic

As the football season draws to a close there remains at least one tidbit to which enthusiastic grid fans have been looking forward all season. The battle between Notre Dame and Army, scheduled for November 28, at New York, is the tussle that makes the mouths of the followers of the pigskin water in anticipation. Last season's game was won by the Irish by the closest of margins, 7-6, despite the fact that Notre Dame was an overwhelming favorite. So one can never be sure how fortune is going to smile or frown. The Irish line-up this year is an imposing one, composed of the warriors that have ridden rough-shod over all opponents to date. Joe Sheeketski has earned an enviable reputation as a ball carrier that requires a lot of stopping. Marchmont Schwartz is mentioned in almost all of the sports scribbles as a certainty for the All-American, and George Melinkovich has made his mark as an outstanding figure of a great team. Facing them in the Army uniform will be Captain Jack Price, a gentleman with an uncanny knack of springing surprises; Robert Carver, who, many say, is the big kick in the Army mule, and Kenneth Field, who on his every appearance this season has turned in a fine performance. As has been pointed out in a game of this sort anything can happen. So it is a question for November 28 to decide—can the Irish ride the Army mule?

Northwestern Players Hurt As Hotel Elevator Runs Wild

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—Ten members of the Northwestern football squad were nursing mild bruises and shaky nerves today as they went out to meet Purdue in the final game of the season.

The bruises and shaky nerves were caused by an unpleasant experience last night when they dropped five floors in a hotel elevator.

The players, George Potter, regular quarterback; Ken Meenan, regular halfback; Harold Weldon, regular center; Luke Foster and Roy Augustus, reserve backs; Paul Engerstron, Paul McDonald and Chester Sutton, reserve linemen; and Art Jens and Val Valentine, reserve ends, were on their way to a theater after dinner.

The elevator started to drop and

CARNERA KAYOES CAMPOLO IN 2ND ROUND OF FIGHT

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—For Victorio Campolo the fight trail definitely seems to lead back to South America.

The six-foot seven-inch giant from Argentina lasted less than two rounds against the not-so-tall but more ponderous Primo Carnera last night. One volley of lefts and rights sent him to the floor early in the second. Another finished him for the rest of the evening.

Thus ends Campolo's hopes of re-establishing his pugilistic reputation which suffered sadly when the tall Gaucho took a bad lacing from Tommy Loughran and was knocked out in seven by Ernie Schaaf. This new setback apparently will eliminate Campolo entirely from heavyweight consideration.

From at least one viewpoint it was quite a fight while it lasted. Carnera scaled 266 1/2, and Campolo 224 1/2.

Harvard Star Selected On Team Over Wood; Pitt Center Honored

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The New York Sun's all-America eleven, announced today, selects Bill Morton of Dartmouth over Harry Wood of Harvard, for the quarterback position. The Sun says Morton got better results from a weaker team playing almost the same opposition as Harvard.

Schwartz is called again "the outstanding back" and Clarence Munn of Minnesota is classed as the lineman of the year.

Right tackle—Kurtz, Notre Dame.
Right end—Dalrymple, Tulane.

ANCIENT RIVALS WILL CLASH AT NEW YORK FIELD

Ramblers Look the Better On Paper, but Anderson Takes No Chances

80,000 TO WITNESS COLORFUL CONTEST

Hard Fought Battle Is Expected; Cadets Have Chance

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—One long winning streak ended by Southern California's Trojan, Notre Dame hoped to start another at the expense of an ancient rival, the Army, in the Yankee stadium today.

Anderson Fears Army
On paper at least, the ramblers looked to be at least two touchdowns better than Army but past performances never have played much of a part in the rivalry between these two.

As Notre Dame's coach, Hunk Anderson, put it:
"I'm taking no chances with this Army team. They have a habit of being just an ordinary football team until they play us and then they suddenly turn into world beaters. Look at the last two years. We've been plenty lucky to beat them, 7-6 and 7-0."

80,000 To Witness Tilt
Most of the 80,000 spectators who made the stadium their mecca for the day expected the ramblers to seek revenge on the Army for their defeat by Southern California last week.

Of the 17 games played between the two schools since 1903, Notre Dame has won 12 and Army four with one tie.

James Dunn, Mae Marsh at State

Mae Marsh and James Dunn from a scene from "Over the Hill".

THEATER
Attractions

Contrasts run high in Salem theater entertainment next week with a schedule of talking productions ranging from the sentimental tear-evoking mother drama to the nonsensical comedy of Edna May Oliver and Oscar Ates and the adventure of Buck Jones in a western thriller to the romantic opus starring Lawrence Tibbett.

"Over the Hill" Coming
That famous story of mother and her wayward son, "Over the Hill," is adapted for the talkies with Mae Marsh in the leading role and will appear at the State three days starting Sunday. James Dunn and Sally Eilers, hero and heroine of "Bad Girl," James Kirkwood and Joan Peers and others in the cast. During the same three-day period there will appear at the Grand a humorous production featuring the noted comedienne, Edna May Oliver of "Cimarron" fame, in "Fanny Foley Herself." Hobart Bosworth, Helen Chandler and John Darrow support Miss Oliver, giving the drama the ranking as one of the year's best comedies.

Week's Biggest Features
The outstanding talkies to appear in Salem in many months come later in the week, however, when Lawrence Tibbett's "Cuban Love Song" and "The Guardsman," featuring Lynn Fontaine and Alfred Lunt, appear at the State. Lunt and Miss Fontaine were released from Broadway for a short period in which they were loaned to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to make "The Guardsman." Roland Young and Zasu Pitts are cast in leading supporting roles. The picture will be shown at the State Wednesday and Thursday.

Durante Supports Tibbett
Movie goers who liked the show, "Get-Rich-Quick" Wallingford, and even those who didn't will go to see "Cuban Love Song" to laugh at the antics of Jimmy "Schnozzle" Durante who almost stole the show from William Haines when he supported the latter in the Wallingford vehicle.

Durante does the same in the picture with Tibbett but the latter's singing assures him of all honors in any picture he may ever appear. Lupe Velez plays opposite the star.

Fans Await Comedy
Oscar Ates, Dorothy Lee and Bert Wheeler are shown in the comedy, "Too Many Cooks," at the Grand Wednesday and Thursday. Fans await the picture with interest to see what success the Wheeler-Lee combination reaches in a picture in which they are not assisted by Robert Woolsey, the bespectacled, cigar-chewing comedian.

Sharon Lynn, Halam Cooley and Robert McWade also appear in the picture. Buck Jones, supported by a newcomer, Ethel Kenyon plays in "Branded," at the Grand Friday and Saturday.

Boy Killed by Gun
TOLEDO, O., Nov. 28.—Gunshot wounds suffered when another boy touched the trigger of a small rifle accidentally caused the death of Andrew Minuto, 15.

State Worker Coming
Mrs. Ben Kuntz of Leipsic, O., state Loyal Temperance legion worker for the Women's Christian Temperance union, who is coming to Columbiana county in the interest of this work, will be in Salem Tuesday.

Mrs. Kuntz will speak to the third, fourth and fifth grades in the public schools and also attend a meeting of the W. C. T. U. here Tuesday evening.

L. T. L. work is along educational lines in the temperance cause.

Final Rehearsal
The Veterans of Foreign Wars Military band will hold a rehearsal at 2:30 p. m. Sunday at the hall, Vine ave.

This is the final rehearsal for a concert scheduled for next Wednesday evening at the Memorial building.

Bert Lesch, manager, asks that all the boys be present. Information concerning uniforms and final arrangements will be given.

OUR READERS

DOUBLE PARKING
Editor, The Salem News:
I am not a resident of your city but do have occasion from time to time, to drive through. I do not know whether you are fortunate or unfortunate in having three state highways on your main street. Fortunately perhaps in having this transient traffic in your business section, but unfortunately in having this traffic added to your natural local congestion on such a narrow street.

I have had several experiences on this street and with your permission I would like to tell you about my "progress" through there a few days ago.

I was driving west and in the first block, after passing your post office, I came to two trucks, one double-parked on each side of the street a short distance from each other. I managed to dodge through there and came into next block, which was all clear until I came nearly to the end where I found a car parked in the middle of the street and in it a lady calmly viewing the passing show. It took a run around left end to get around this one because cars were hurrying out of the side street there.

I thought now I can look for a place to park a few minutes and my wife can shop for some articles which she wanted. But I was a little ahead of myself because in next block I found a mammoth moving van, one of those huge fellows you meet on the road and it makes you say "words" and many of them. This fellow was backed up to the curb and extended at least half way across the street. Just beyond this was another car double-parked on my side leaving a cute little almost fern brushing hole just off left tackle. By means of a little skillful steering I was through and made the last green light and with a sigh of relief hurried out of town. And not till we were some miles out did either of us think about the shopping we wanted to do.

From what I have seen of your city I rather like it, but I do not think I would like to live there and have to "work my way" through your main street very often.

Sincerely,

TRANSIENT.

Lifesavers and Life Givers

Largely unused, the stalwart men of the Coast Guard services of any country are generally remembered among the world's greatest heroes. Lord Blanesborough is depicted at left as he unveiled a memorial to the 17 lifeboatmen of Rye, England, who lost their lives while going to the rescue of the steamer Alice, of Riga. Lifeboatmen from all parts of South England came to Rye to witness the unveiling. The inscription above the figure of the coast guardmen reads: "We have done that which was our duty to do."

TODAY'S RADIO PROGRAMS

A first hand description from a bobbed speeding down a hillside may be one angle of the broadcasts of the olympic winter games to be held at Lake Placid, N. Y. next February.

Nothing definite as been arranged as yet, but if engineers and others involved find the plan feasible they will put it on the air over NBC. A portable transmitter would be located on the bobsled.
